Tue Omnibus bill was defeated in the House yesterday by six mabeen received at the Secretary of State's office. It stands for Grant 856 and none for Seymour. For Congressman, Butler received 834. No other person was voted for.

THE argument of the legal-tender case before the Supreme Court of the United States, has been concluded. Monday next the decision of the Court is expected to be delivered. It is believed that all the Judges-eight in number-save one the Chief Justice perhaps will concur in pronouncing the making of treasury notes and currency based on them, a legal tender in the payment of private debts, to be without warrant in the constitution. It is intimated, that if this should be the decision, promulgation will be withheld, in order to permit Congress to provide some financial scheme, which would avoid the abrupt and precipitate interference which it would likely cause in the business transactions of the people.

THE article on the first page dis cussing the South and her material resources, and what it behooves her people to do with them, and particularly referring to Tennessee, is worthy of reading by all, and heeding. The chief cause of all the ills this section now suffers, is the inertness and despondency of her true men; their stolid inappreciation of the boundless capacities for wealth and material presperity of her soil and climate and hills and streams; and their helpless dependency upon others for whatever needs energy, skill, or ingenuity to

The aspiration for material independence, however, is awakened. coming. Already factories of vari ous kinds are springin chine shops, wagon and carriage manufactories, cotton and woolen factories, extensive boot and shoe shops, agricultural implement facto- brothers and Anderson at New Al- who is not sick ! ries, are wanted. Places where our bany, Ind., making ten in all material, with which nature has so lavishly furnished us, into something to wear, to eat, to sleep on and be buried in; to till the earth with, to ride in for pleasure or business on land or water, and to do all and singular whatever men or women have learned to do for the promotion of their comfort, are what we need. We must cease to buy these things. To make them and sell them to others is the only path to true freedom and real prosperity.

BLACKGUARDING THE PRESIDENT. The New York Tribune disgraces American journalism by its coarse abuse of President Johnson. Its comments upon the President's message are not only rude and discourteous, but brutal. It says in its issue of Dec. 10:

"Let this Demagogue go. We must not overestimate his power to harm us now. Congress never expressed more truly the spirit of the nation than when it trampled contemptuously upon this miserable message, and left it to be swept up with the dust and dirt and waste paper of the floor."

The next day it continued its abuse of the President in the choicest of rhetoric. "Brazen, reckless, shameless villain," are among the epithets with which that paper connects the name of the Chief Magistrate in discussing the views advanced in his message, and then it breaks out as follows:

"Only twelve weeks more and the country will be rid of him forever. It is hard; but we can endure him twelve weeks longer. Thank Heaven that he has power only to disgrace us."

The New York Tribune is a pa per of wide circulation and wields considerable power in its party. I is therefore regarded as a represen tative journal. But when it speaks of the President it lays aside every thing like dignity and decency, and descends to the lowest depths of blackguardism. Such a course is not calculated to inspire respect for the journals of the North, for with all their faults, the Southern journals have not yet forgotten what is due to themselves and their readers.

The Times proceeds large. We presume there is hardly a possibility that he will get in. > The "Seymour Vigilance Committee" have now hung all who are known to have been connected with the robbing the railroad and express cars near Seymour, Ind., last spring. Three men named Elliott, Clifton and Jarrel, who were arrested shortly after the murder, and taken to Cincinnati for safe-keeping, were captured on the train on the night of July 20, as they were being taken to Brownstown, Ind., for trial, and hung by the Vigilance Committee.
